Police Too Busy

A ROUGH DEAL GIVEN LAST NIGHT TO A MAN FROM THE MARYLAND.

An officer of the cruiser Maryland who was taken to the police station and threatened with arrest last night has a big kick to make against the hackman who took him and the police officers who handled the case.

The officer in question drove about town for some hours, with a friend. The latter went to sleep in the hack, but the man who makes the complaint says he did not sleep and witnesses who saw him at midnight corroborate his statement that he was sober.

After driving about for some time the hackman appears to have become alarmed about getting his fare, for he drove to the police station. "I thought we were back to the Young hotel, where I was staying," said the officer, "until I looked out and saw the police. They began to yank my friend out of the hack and I asked what was the matter. I was told that the hackman must be paid or we would go to jail."

"I immediately asked what was due the hackman and said that he had never asked for his pay. He wanted $5 and I gave it to him. He could have had ten if he had said so. We were taken into the station, but allowed to go after paying the hackman. After all was settled I went back to the officer in the station and said that now that it was all over, I would like to know just why we had been brought to the station, as I didn't understand it. He roughly replied that if I didn't want to spend the night in a cell I had better get out as quickly as possible."

"Such treatment is an outrage and I want my complaint heard. I have been in Honolulu before several times, and know how the police treat men from navy and army vessels, and it is outrageous. Once I was interrupted on my way to my vessel by a policeman who thought I might be a straggler whom he could get $10 for catching."

The hackman in the case, Hiona, claims that his passengers both went to sleep and that he could not waken them so drove to the station to have them aroused, looked after and incidentally collected from. The Maryland officer's claim that he was sober is, however, fully confirmed by persons who saw him after the trouble.

REWARD UNEARNED

OFFER OF $500 FOR A LEPROSY
CURE DOES NOT BRING ANY RESULTS.

President Pinkham of the Board of Health says that he is going to quit advertising a reward for a cure for leprosy. It isn't a paying proposition and the cost of the ads. bid fair to use up more than the $500 which was offered as a reward by Pinkham for any one who could show him.

President Pinkham isn't worrying about losing the $500, but has got disgusted over the dearth of results from his offer and so will discontinue it, although in all probability if anyone should come along with a genuine specific for the oldest of human afflictions he will not go unrewarded.

President Pinkham says that the only result of his months of advertising in the papers has been a visit from a Jap who told some weird tale of the ability of his father in Japan to cure leprosy by means of some kind of charm which he employed with unfailing success. Inasmuch as the son was not able to duplicate the stunt, he failed to get an easy five hundred.

The advertisement offering the reward was in way of a challenge from the Health Department to silence the various reports believed by some credulous persons that there were cures for leprosy known to certain persons in town, which were unknown to medical science.

THE DAM CONTRACT

HAS WHITEHOUSE A PERMANENT
HOLD OR CAN THE TERRITORY
TAKE THE JOB?

The question of whether or not the Territory can finish up the Nuuanu dam itself without considering Contractor Whitehouse as a factor when the new loan appropriation shall have become available, is one which is being considerably discussed about the Capitol. It has been a number of times announced by Superintendent of Public Works Holloway that this would be the case, and that with the exhaustion of the available money set aside for the contractor Whitehouse's contract expired, but this is seriously questioned.

If the Territory should attempt to ignore Whitehouse in the completion of the dam it is certain that it will have to defend a damage suit in the courts, for the Contractor feels very sure of his position and will refuse to be ousted without a fight.

When the bids for the construction of the Nuuanu dam were advertised for in May 1905, the advertisements were for the building of the dam complete, not for a lump price, but on the materials, and labor which should be required; and the opening paragraph of the signed contract reads that the agreement is for the "construction and completion" of the dam.

Another paragraph in the advertisement for bids says: "This contract, though a schedule contract, is to be awarded as a whole, and the estimated quantities which are included in the specifications, together with the complete list of prices submitted in each case are to be used as a basis for determining the lowest bidder."

Another fact that will probably have some weight, is that when the original $75,000 appropriated for the dam was exhausted, and the additional $80,000 of the Honolulu Water Works, general fund was to be drawn on, an opinion was given by the Attorney General E. C. Peters, to the effect that Whitehouse was eligible to continue with the new appropriation under his standing contract, which was generally accepted and agreed to at the time.

However, as it will be some months before any money can be realized from the sale of bonds as authorized by the loan act of the last Legislature, there will be plenty of time to thoroughly digest the matter.

COLORADOS PLAY FIRST

THE CRUISER TEAM GAMES AR-RANGED FOR NEXT SATURDAY AND SUNDAY.

On Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock the baseball team of the U. S. S. Colorado will play the Picked team that played on Monday against the Saints, and the second game will be between the U. S. S. Pennsylvania and the Champion Saint Louis team.

Both of these games should be very interesting. On Sunday afternoon the team of the U. S. S. Maryland will play the Picked team and the Saints will play the team of the U. S. S. West Virginia. All these games should be fast from start to finish, as the Navy boys are noted for their fast ball playing, and there ought to be baseball of the highest order.

A number of other games will no doubt be arranged while the fleet is here and the Honolulu public will have a chance to get a line on the team that will represent Honolulu in the coming coast series.

Has Shovel Teddy Used

The West Virginia boasts of a big coal shovel which President Roosevelt handled with so much dexterity when he paid a visit to the fireroom on that vessel. He helped fire her during her trip to the Panama Canal about one year ago. The shovel now has a place over one of the doors which lead to the engine room and is brightly polished. The Navy lost the use of a good shovel on account of this trip of the President. On this voyage the West Virginia also did some record wireless telegraphing and the President was always able to communicate with Washington, by way of some shore station which the ship's operators kept in touch with.

WHO IS AFTER HOLLOWAY'S JOB?

REPORTS THAT THERE IS A "CANDIDATE" WHO WOULD LIKE THE PLACE AND THE NAME OF MARSTON CAMPBELL IS MENTIONED.
HOLLOWAY DECLINES TO TALK AND SAYS OTHERS ARE DOING
SPIELING ENOUGH.

Who is the candidate for Superintendent Holloway's job, and what is behind the long and steady "knocking" of the public works man and his principal assistant? These are questions which politicians and others are asking in view of incessant efforts to use the Nuuanu dam contract against Holloway.

Marston Campbell has stated that there is "nothing in" reports that he was being considered for the position, but he is nevertheless said to be the man referred to in the following editorial from the Maui News:

"There seems to be a persistent attack on the officers of the Public Works Department by certain contractors and a few others who are on the inside of a movement in the interests of a favored friend who would be acceptable to the Advertiser and doubtless to many of the contractors of the Territory who are seeking to advance their interests regardless of the welfare of the public."

"It has been known on this island for some months who the Advertiser wishes to fill the office of Superintendent but had that paper acted the part of wisdom it would have prevented the contractors from entering into the denunciation of Holloway and Howland and in that way would have furthered the interests of the candidate who is the pet of the Advertiser and for various reasons would have been doubly acceptable to the contractors."

"The denunciation of the officers of the Department of Public Works by the contractors, if in earnest, may be accepted as the highest recommendation that could be given those officials and unless those denunciations are of a specific nature and some material charges substantiated the public in general will not think any the less of the officials on account of vituperation on the part of a contractor whose interests are diametrically opposed to the interests of the public whose interests it is the duty of the officers of the Public Works Department to subserve."

Superintendent Holloway, of the Board of Public Works, when asked this morning concerning the intimation published in the Advertiser to the effect that he expects to resign his office before the expiration of his term in November, owing to the friction and criticism which had developed over the construction of the Nuuanu Dam, refused to either affirm or deny the report.

"The Advertiser didn't get any such information from me," he said "and I haven't quit yet."

"Will you make a statement one way or the other on the matter?" he was then asked.

"No, I don't care to talk about it at all," he replied. "There are enough people doing talking without me taking a hand. Let them go ahead."
